WHEREAS, it is the policy of the State to utilize environmentally-sound methods that will protect the environment as well as the welfare of the constituents;

WHEREAS, it is also the duty of advertisers, public officials and those seeking election for public office to initiate, participate in integrated ecological solid waste management projects, adopt innovative processes that shall recycle and re-use materials, reduce waste and prevent pollution, and to undertake community activities, promote and propagate effective solid waste management practices, as provided in Section 57 of Republic Act No. 9003 or the Ecological Solid Waste Management Act;

WHEREAS, the expansive usage of plastics posters as campaign materials during election time and their typical disposal creates significant litter problems in the City and sometimes clogs up canals and sewerage systems that cause floods;

[Handwritten signatures and initials]

WHEREAS, two (2) commonly used plastic are Polyethylene and PVC tarpaulin in advertisements and the production of campaign materials with minimum thickness of plastic posters made of polyethylene is used as campaign propaganda materials with seventy five (75) microns;

WHEREAS, polyethylene types are the ones that are usually found disposed in waterways, regulation must therefore be implemented on this type of campaign materials;

WHEREAS, PVC tarpaulin used as advertisement and campaign propaganda materials has thickness that ranges from 8 onz to 12 onz which are commonly reuse and converted into bags and other products;

WHEREAS, there's an urgency to come up with a policy that will prohibit the use of plastic advertisement and propaganda materials to somehow address environmental impact concern and disaster risk reduction for the people of Quezon City.
